Perfect Glucose Manager, for Windows, is a new-generation software for managing and analyzing your diabetes problems. The program was designed by experts on diabetes and has a unique interface. It allows you to manage all aspects of your daily life: nutrition, physical activities, medicine and blood sugar tests. All of them in an easy-to-use and logical program. Features: Automatic blood sugar testing (pH, TC, HbA1C, Hc, Glucose, Ketone) Food logging (calories, fat, protein, carbohydrates, sugar) Calories and carb values based on the food, don't forget to include the carbohydrates from the carbs in the food! Calories and fat based on food labelling Glycated Haemoglobin (HbA1C) and glycaemia percentage calculation Graphs and statistics of the blood sugar Average blood sugar results, as well as the levels before and after food intake Multiple graphs of all these values Ergonomics: in the menu, you can select the graph type you want The graph of the blood sugar results will be the most accurate, because it's calculated as the arithmetic mean of the blood sugar values in a certain time period The average blood sugar graph will be less accurate, but you can compare it with the other graphs to make a more accurate decision The graph of the glycaemic profile will be a graph of the blood sugar values and the time The graph of the blood sugar and the time will be the most accurate, so you can compare all this data You can select the graph type you need before you start working (calculations, graphs, statistics) Automatic comparison Automatic update of the database Pre-defined colours for the values Reports of any change in the values in the last days The database of the average blood sugar values (day, week, month, year) will include data from previous months and years, as well as the data from the current month You can select what should be included in the database and leave the first values of the database as a blank You can schedule the data collection Data backup and export Options and languages Excel export You can activate the system tray icon to set the time interval for updating the database, Calculations (lunch, dinner) and breakfast and in real time You can activate e-mail notifications when 09e8f5149f
